The Toronto Congress Centre Secures Two of Canada's Leading Manufacturing Events for 2010 and 2011

TORONTO: May 25, 2010 . . . Canada's largest privately owned show and meeting place, The Toronto Congress Centre (TCC), a division of Congress Centres Inc. announces two new prestigious events to its BtB (business to business) repertoire. The first being The Canadian Manufacturing Week (CMW) featuring Weld Expo produced by Society of Manufacturing Engineers and the second, PLAST-EX, PACKEX, ATX Automation Technology Expo Canada, Designs & Manufacturing Canada, PTX/PBS Canada – Process Tecnology Expo/Powder/Bulk Solids and GMX Canada Green Manufacturing Expo produced by Canon Communications LLC.

Society of Manufacturing Engineers and Canon Communications LLC together represent billions of dollars in their manufacturing industries combined. "These very important events will attract over 20,000 delegates and generate upward of 6500 room nights creating substantial economic benefits for the city as well as considerable business for the center" states, Mr. Alain K. Sutton, Chair and CEO of Congress Centres Inc.

Society of Manufacturing Engineers is pleased to host their 2010 edition of Canadian Manufacturing Week (CMW) at the Toronto Congress Centres North Building October 5-7, 2010. "With a new and modern facility, explained Ms. Julie Pike, Event Manager for SME, combined with professional meeting space close to the exhibit hall, the decision to bring CMW to the TCC was an easy one. Ms. Pike also likes, "the facilities great airport location and we look forward to presenting our new CMW in a state of the art facility."

When asked Mr. Dan Cutrone, Director of Marketing, Canon Communications LLC why they chose the Toronto Congress Centre for their recently acquired events for June 21-23, 2011 he provided the following statement, "The Toronto Congress Centre is a key part of our strategy for producing a co-located event serving Canada's advanced technology manufacturing industries. What's more, the contiguous nature of the exhibit space at the facility is very conducive to our visitors seeing the products and services throughout the entire event rather than in just one of the shows."

Established in 1995, the Toronto Congress Centre has hosted many of the largest and most prestigious meetings and expositions in Canada. In 2008, the TCC doubled its space to one million square feet with the addition of the half million square foot Toronto Congress Centre North. TCC prides itself on being Great Experience Makers™ (GEM)™ providing the best customer experience of any facility, anywhere in the world. The Toronto Congress Centre is located at 650 Dixon Road near Pearson International Airport, Toronto, Ontario, Canada M9W 1J1
